E-workshop on Leadership in Crisis

Multilateral Diplomacy

This interactive online workshop taking place during three consecutive half days is meant to provide information and knowledge about Leadership in Crisis.

The increase in Volatility, Uncertainty, Complexity, and Ambiguity (VUCA) in today’s world means that there is no longer one management approach that can be applied to all organizations and work settings. It results in the need for leaders to adapt their leadership strategies to be more flexible and fitting for a variety of diverse challenges and situations. What leaders need during a crisis is not a predefined response plan but behaviours and mindsets that will prevent them from overreacting to yesterday’s developments and help them to look ahead, especially during this COVID-19 global pandemic.

The e-workshop will take place 13.00-17.00 (CET) for the three days (approximately 12 training hours total).

The e-workshop will discover the topic “Leadership in Crisis”, and all participants will take part in highly interactive exercises in order to further enhance the participants’ understanding of the theme.

By the end of this e-workshop, participants will be able to:

- Identify roles and responsibilities of leaders during times of crisis;
• To restructure current way of working, and build resilience while leading and support their teams;
• To coach teams and individuals to overcome crisis and project them into the future.

This e-workshop will take at 13.00-17.00 (CET) during three half days from 22-24 April 2020. The programme is devoted to educating on leadership in crisis, covering topics such as:

• Identify roles and responsibilities of leaders during times of crisis;
• To restructure current way of working, and build resilience while leading and support their teams;
